Other Events.

Triterras, Inc. ("Triterras" or the "Company") is contemplating a plan to consolidate its senior operating leadership teams in either one of its two locations, Singapore or Dubai, United Arab Emirates. The Company believes that this consolidation will lead to better collaboration, efficiency and effectiveness of execution among the Company's leadership and that the consolidation will benefit its business operations. Despite this contemplated geographical consolidation of its leadership teams, the Company plans to continue to maintain its remote offices in the United States and the United Kingdom, each staffed with the Company's personnel for the conduct of local business matters.

With respect to our senior management team, we are aware that certain disclosures have been made other than by the Company regarding the employment status of John Galani, the Company's Chief Operating Officer. Mr. Galani continues to be the Company's Chief Operating Officer, and the Company is in discussions with Mr. Galani regarding his employment status and future role with the Company.
